Dear Bob:

As per your instructions I am enclosing two proposals for transmittal [redacted] I suggest that as soon as [redacted] can give me a letter of intent he do so, and I would actually prefer to have you or Paul call me and give me the number so that I can proceed with the purchase order to Polaroid Corporation. If there is anything wrong in the way these things have been written, I would like to have you call back so that I can get them corrected as quickly as possible.

In addition, I would like to have your crowd look over the gadget and offer any criticisms or suggestions so that these can get into the works here as soon as possible. As you well realize, time is of the essence as far as you are concerned and the major delay is going to be that of production at Polaroid Corporation.

Very truly yours,
